ATTORNEY GENERAL GRICE

HOME FROM WASHINGTON

Solicitor Dorsey and Attorney

Alexander Will Return in

Few Days

Attorney General Warren Grice returned to Atlanta yesterday from Washington, where, with Solicitor Hugh Dorsey, he had argued for the State against the Frank Appeal before the Supreme Court.

Solicitor Dorsey and H. A. Alexander, the latter of Frank's Counsel, are now in New York and will return home in a few days.

Mr. Grice, on his arrival yesterday, said he had no comment to make on the Case and he, of course, could not say when the Supreme Court is likely to decide it.
